

Make Your Own

Bee Bath

Honeybees are responsible for pollinating the foods we eat. Bees, Birds and other minibeasts — like butterflies, ladybirds, need fresh water to drink.

You will need:

An old saucer, cleaned meat tray or plant dish

Different shape, size and colour pebbles or stones (search for pebbles and stones in your garden or on your next walk)

Clean fresh water

The steps are really easy to follow:

1. Make sure all your dishes are clean
2. Arrange your stones/pebbles in your dish. The bees will use these as a little landing platform while they drink.
3. Look around the garden for a sheltered spot to place your plate, ideally near some flowers the bees might visit to collect pollen
4. Remember to check the water daily, with just enough fresh water.
